Banana Peel Ballet

www.PedagoNet.Com
learning material & resource center

His board is swift, his stance is tight,
He weaves through cones with reckless grace.
A banana peel shines bold and bright,
Impressing her with daring pace.

He weaves through cones with reckless grace,
Dodging squirrels and tumbling cans.
Impressing her with daring pace,
She's texting, crafting weekend plans.

Dodging squirrels and tumbling cans,
His kickflip wobbles—danger calls.
She's texting, crafting weekend plans,
Oblivious as near doom sprawls.

His kickflip wobbles—danger calls,
A shopping cart bolts down the street.
Oblivious as near doom sprawls,
Her thumbs keep dancing, fast and neat.

A shopping cart bolts down the street,
The banana waits in silent pride.
Her thumbs keep dancing, fast and neat,
His dreams and balance coincide.

The banana waits in silent pride,
His board still swift, but nerves now bite.
His dreams and balance coincide,
A pirouette—and then, goodnight.
